

The pressure is on! As our D-day approaches, everyone is swamped with various projects and meetings and loads of student enquiries and campus visits. This is briefly what has been going on.....

FLAME shows the path in Delhi Edupath Exhibition

FLAME participated in EDUPATH 2007, an educational fair in Delhi. The exhibition was scheduled on 19th and 20th May at Hotel Ashok, New Delhi. Prasad & Himanshoo represented FLAME in the exhibition. The target audience was primarily UG students along with PG students. Visitors included students as well as parents, teachers & professors.

Honorable Minister of State of the Ministry of Labour & Employment, Mr. Oscar Fernandez visited the exhibition and spent some time at our stall. He was keenly interested in the idea of liberal education and expressed his happiness on our initiative. He was also impressed with YATRA.

Hearty Congratulations Preeti!!

As part of her Ph.D. research work, Preeti Mulay submitted a few papers for the upcoming international conference on Global Software Development, organized by Advanced Computing and Communications Society's Coimbatore Chapter from 26-28 July 2007. The first paper submitted was accepted by International Conference of Global Software Development with lots of good remarks and appreciation. As a result they invited her to present her work at the conference. Great job Preeti! We all wish you many more feathers in your cap!

FLAME Theatre Presentation

FLAME, in association with the Goethe Institute (Max Mueller Bhavan), India has arranged a fun filled weeklong activity in Pune for theatre enthusiasts. A troupe from Germany "Theater Handgemenge" will be staging a Shadow Play titled "King's Journey" on Sunday, 3rd June and a Workshop to teach the methods of Improvising will be conducted from 4th to 6th June. All participants will work together on a precise scene, experimenting with light and shadows. The group will work on how to give theatrical expression to their body in the shadow.

Later, they will work on a myth or legend from the Indian culture with the manners of improvisation and include different materials. The participants will experiment with theatrical possibilities of expression using material and figures.

As a grand finale, the presentation of several small scenes will be presented.

Welcome Nandan..

Mr. Nandan Kudhyadi has joined from today as an Associate Professor for the FLAME School of communication. He joins us from Whistling Woods International, Mumbai where he was a senior professor of film direction. We welcome him to the family and wish him all the best for his career with FLAME.

Birthdays

Wish you a very happy birthday Milind Chakradeo on June 6th.
